Montreal, February 1, 2013 — Kitco Metals Inc. (“Kitco”) announced changes to its line-up of commentators on Kitco.com. Senior Metals Market Analyst, Jon Nadler, leaves his popular commentary spot, while Kitco welcomes to the team, Global Trading Director, Peter Hug, and Senior Analyst, Jim Wyckoff.

Jon Nadler began collaborating with Kitco in 2006 and was a cornerstone of the contributed commentaries section on Kitco.com. Throughout his career, Nadler focused exclusively on the precious metals market and its related physical investment products.

No strangers to Kitco.com, Peter Hug and Jim Wyckoff both have weekly shows on Kitco NEWS. Hug headlines For Pete’s Sake, which examines the mindset of a seasoned trader and Wyckoff produces Technically Speaking, which sheds light on key precious metals trading indicators.

A seasoned trader with more than 30 years’ experience, Hug played a leadership role in making Guardian Trust Company one of the largest international precious metals trading houses.

Wyckoff has been involved with the stock, financial and commodity markets for over 30 years. He was a financial journalist with the Futures World News (FWN) newswire service and has covered every futures market traded in the U.S.

Both Hug and Wyckoff are regularly featured and quoted in mainstream media including Dow Jones, CNBC, Bloomberg, Forbes, TheStreet.com, TraderPlanet and the Globe & Mail.

“We appreciate Jon’s contributions to the company and wish him well,” said John Dourekas, Media Director for Kitco. “Jon played a significant role in making expert commentaries an important feature of Kitco.com. We sincerely thank him for all the years on our team and wish him the very best in his future endeavors.”

Dourekas added: “We are dedicated to having the best-of-the best expert analysis on Kitco.com, and solidifying our role as the go-to site for all precious metals information.
